

ENROLLMENT COMPLAINT PROCESS

August 2021

Every child of school age who is a resident of Pennsylvania has a right to public education. The Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE) has developed a complaint process to investigate whether a school district has illegally prevented a student from enrolling in the district. This fact sheet will help you navigate PDE's enrollment complaint process.

Special Considerations

During the pandemic, nearly all districts began offering online enrollment, and many districts are continuing to use this option. Some districts are also continuing to offer virtual learning for students, particularly students with disabilities, for the 2021-2022 school year. Under a newly enacted law, Act 66, some students may be repeating a grade this school year. While the timeline for selecting this option has passed, some local educational agencies are extending the deadline for selecting to repeat a year or permitting students with disabilities who aged out at 21 to remain in school during the 2021-2022 school year. Contact your school district or charter school to learn more.

WHAT IS THE ENROLLMENT COMPLAINT PROCESS?

School districts and charter schools in Pennsylvania must enroll a child after they have been given four required documents: proof of age, immunizations, residency, and statements regarding prior school discipline issues (or parent registration form). The Pennsylvania Department of Education has developed an enrollment complaint process to investigate whether a school district has illegally excluded a student from school and to ensure that children are enrolled promptly.

WHEN SHOULD I USE THE ENROLLMENT COMPLAINT PROCESS?

If a school district is refusing to allow the student to start school within five days of presenting these documents, file an enrollment complaint immediately. The following pages of this fact sheet will walk through how to file an enrollment complaint with PDE.

DOES THE ENROLLMENT COMPLAINT PROCESS APPLY TO ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS?

Yes. This process applies to all public schools, including charter schools as well as cyber charter schools.

WHEN ARE PROBLEMS WITH ENROLLMENT MOST LIKELY TO OCCUR?

There are many situations where a school may unlawfully refuse to enroll a student, but often enrollment disputes arise when:

- Students are living with an adult other than their parent
- Students are in foster care, involved in the juvenile justice system, or experiencing homelessness*
- Immigrant and refugee students are new to the United States
- Schools try to deny enrollment based on a student's discipline history
- Students are in residential "children's institutions," such as group homes, maternity homes, and mental health facilities.

NOTE: There is a separate enrollment dispute process for students experiencing homelessness. To learn more, see our fact sheet, available at www.elc-pa.org.*

WHERE CAN I FIND MORE INFORMATION ABOUT ENROLLING IN SCHOOL?

For more information about enrolling in school in Pennsylvania see ELC's publication How to Enroll a Child in Public School. You may also want to read the Pennsylvania Department of Education's Basic Education Circulars, entitled Enrollment of Students and Enrollment FAQ.

HOW TO FILE A COMPLAINT

1. A person trying to enroll a student in school (e.g., a parent, relative, foster parent, caseworker, or anyone advocating for the child) can file a complaint using the sample letter included in this packet, or you may call the "School Services Unit" listed below. You may fill out the attached sample letter on the next page and fax or email it to:

Monica Washington
 School Services Unit, Pennsylvania Department of Education (PDE)
 333 Market Street, Harrisburg, PA 17126
 Email: mwashington@pa.gov
 Phone: 717-787-4860 or 717-783-6746 / Fax: 717-214-4389

A complaint may be filed by mail, email, or by calling the phone number above and following up with an email. Send or bring a copy of the letter to the superintendent of the school district in which you are trying to enroll the child. Keep a copy for your files!

2. Upon receiving your written complaint, the School Services Unit will contact the school district, family, or other involved parties to determine where the child should go to school. This process, whenever possible, will occur within five days of receiving the complaint. PDE will determine whether the school district should enroll the student and inform the school district and the family or agency with legal custody of the child of its decision. If you haven't heard from the Department, call 717-787-4860 to ask for an update.
3. If the complaint is not resolved, PDE will issue a written determination to the school district and the individual who filed the complaint. You should receive a copy of this letter.

4. If the school district does not enroll the student within five school days after receiving the written determination, the Department will issue a letter to the school district requesting its position on the situation. The school district will have five school days to respond to the request. The district's response should tell the Department whether it will admit the student, and if not, why not. The Department should send you a copy of the district's response.
 5. If the school district refuses to enroll the student or does not respond, the matter will go to the Department's Office of Chief Counsel (OCC), who will determine if the school district's response is valid. If not, the Deputy Secretary will decide what additional steps to take.
 6. If the school district still refuses to admit the student or does not respond, the Office of Chief Counsel should review your complaint and advise the Deputy Secretary of Education on whether the district's explanation is valid. The Deputy Secretary should let you know what they decide.
